

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.
FOR REPRESENTATIVE,
HON. JESSE S. WILLIAMS.

EMPEROR WILLIAM, of Germany, is seriously ill.

The Apache Indians are on the war-path in Arizona, destroying property and life.

All of the notoriously offensive and insubordinate counties in Eastern Kentucky are largely Republican.

Good work is going on in old Virginia. The Mahone rascals are being rapidly turned out. Respectable people are thankful.

IOWA is about to be redeemed. Weaver, the famous Greenbacker, declares a fusion ticket of Democrats and Greenbackers will carry the State at the next general election.

At Louisville the young wife of Mr. John A. Haldeman, Mrs. Lollie R. Haldeman, died on the 25th ultimo. She was an estimable young lady, and her husband is left in utter desolation.

SECRETARY WHITNEY is making John Roach, a favorite of the Government formerly and a fat ship contractor, understand a few things. He tested one of John's boats four times before he would receive it.

THE Government of Brazil has adopted a plan for the gradual emancipation of all the slaves within the precincts of that country. The owners of the slaves are to be indemnified. The world does move and grows better.

MR. JESSE S. WILLIAMS has received the nomination for the Legislature by the Democrats of Ohio county. Mr. Williams is a polished gentleman of ability and legislative experience, and will doubtless be elected. It is a pleasure to vote for such a man as Jesse Williams. Breckinridge News.

HENRY M. STANLEY, the great African explorer, once a common correspondent of the New York Herald, has been chosen governor of the Congo State. He is zealously active and more effective than any one else in trying to improve and secure civilization in that wild country. His books about his travels and adventures are as interesting as romances.

HARRISON, the Boy Preacher, is still the rage in Louisville. He performs grand and lofty tumbling acts daily and nightly, climbs posts, leaps the railing, gesticulates, and allures many weak creatures to the anxious pen; stirs up excitement and produces no real and lasting conversion. Emotional preaching doesn't amount to much; it denotes infirmity in the preacher and in those he influences.

A splendid banquet was given to Mr. Boyd Winchester, Minister to Switzerland, at the Galt House in Louisville last Friday night. Many prominent persons were present, and appropriate speeches marked the occasion. Mr. Winchester's remarks were especially good, and indicative of a better man than several prejudiced and licentious newspapers of both the State and nation have pronounced him.

THE Greenville Echo in answer to the Louisville Commercial's defense of Judge Thos. Henry Hines, hits again the honorable justice. It says that in the year ending March 1st, 1884, Judge Pryor decided 189 cases, Judge Hargis 103 cases, Judge Lewis 49 cases, and Judge Hines 45 cases. It is true that Judge Hines hasn't done an enormous amount of work, or a reasonable amount even, and has been abroad most of his term for his health.

THE Temperance Alliance, a strong organization of citizens, is having a hard time of it in enforcing the prohibition laws in Kansas. The Bacchanals are always one trick ahead of their opponents, and manage by the latest hook or crook to obtain a sufficient quantity of spirituous, vinous or malt liquor for the satisfaction of their obstacle-removing thirst. The Alliance may lead the bibbers to water, but they can't force them to drink it teetotally.

THE Kentucky Union railway was completed to within a mile of Clay City, Powell county, last week, and when the first train arrived there much enthusiasm was exhibited by the wondering natives. Some danced and others stood on head, and the whole crowd dispersed helter-skelter into the rocks and thickets at a sudden and terrific escape of steam from the engine. We would not get scared, but how high celestially good would we Hartford folk feel, would a shining and proud locomotive make its blustering but propitious entrance into our ancient and drowsy town. We would be willing to stand on our heads for a week.

THE question of the Afghan boundary has been satisfactorily and definitely settled between England and Russia. A friendly spirit marked the conduct of the treaty. The grand old man, Premier Gladstone, will now no longer for a time be bothered by the detestable human carcasses that have been barking at his heels for the past several months; his star is again in the ascendant, undimmed by the clouds of political envy and hatred and journalistic vituperation and flattery. We cannot understand why some influential and apparently decent newspapers in this country exert themselves to slur at England and her Prime Minister, the first nation and the first statesman of the globe.

Is a last week's issue of the New York Sun there was an article from Miss Elizabeth Cleveland, the President's sister, containing a tart reply to the Rev. Dr. Howard Crosby's remarks on the total abstinence question. The Doctor said that excellent women who happened to have drunk on husbands or sons, were afforded no reason to advocate complete abstinence for everybody. He had heard a good woman, whose boy had severely cut his finger with a knife, wish there were no knives in the world, that they were all destroyed. With this for a text, strong-minded Miss Cleveland gives the reverend Doctor a piece of her mind, and pours out a stream of verbiage sarcasm, like the average woman, and in a manner that does not fix her intellectual and literary abilities at or near the topmost notch. She classes the intemperance evil and hydrophobia in the same category; she thinks a little liquor is not a whit better than a little mad-dog virus; and she cries for the suppression and annihilation of mad-dogs and whisky. The flurried lady supports her beliefs and notions with a patent touch of rant, as if a crazy cur or an inebriate, or both, had just run her in the house. The naughty preacher will crawl in, and the White House Amazon might girl herself and strike for Kansas to aid the Alliance.

AILMENT IN THE ORIENT.
The Almighty, when he sent the pestilence that ravaged a few of the mountain counties in eastern Kentucky last fall, was vastly too merciful; he would have suited those that stand in awe of him everywhere, and would have wiped out a blotch from the much-blotched face of our State, and promoted our welfare, had he allowed the plague, coupled with a deluge of fire and brimstone, to spread its fatal operation over the whole of that rugged and picturesque district, where the spirit of man is hardly on a par with that of the rattlesnake and the dragon that infest the aged crags and gloomy woods, and almost entirely exterminate the human vermin that have their being there. This would have prevented the numerous murders and assassinations that the barbarians have committed since, especially a most foul triple murder that was done about three weeks ago at Pineville, a hell-trap on the Cumberland river, the county seat of Bell county, of which two men and a fair and innocent girl baby, on their way from church, were the unspiced victims. The dastardly deed grew out of trifling political differences that would have been no further thought of in Ohio county, but a trifle is enough to excite a brutal mountaineer to an act of blood. The other day a grand jury dared to indict the murderer, Andrew Johnson, and his confederates, and the officers dared to arrest them, but a cowardly court let them off on bail. As the plainest matter of course the felons will go unpunished or slightly so, as far as the law is concerned. Johnson is a hero in Bell county, is only 22 years old and is already the author of five murders; he and his gang do as they please, and their lawlessness is unchecked. In another mountain county, Knott, recently established, lawlessness also prevails; respectable people are terrorized and are leaving the country; robbery and murder are rampant. Rowan county is in disturbance again, war between two political factions being impendent. Such is the condition of the eastern part of our Commonwealth, and such it will continue to be doubtless for a long time. The miserable inhabitants are seemingly incurable; death alone may cure them. Meanwhile it is a shame and a serious hurt to our State that the large and valuable mineral and timber resources of that extensive region are not fully developed and the people not blessed with law and order.

A mob at Franklin took from the jail two prisoners accused of arson and hung them last week.

Judge Casswell Bennett.
It is well known that his name appears at the head of this article is now an applicant for a position upon the Appellate Bench. Judge Bennett is too well known in this Judicial District to need even a passing notice. He presided as Judge of the Common Pleas Court here for thirteen years, and he would today hold that position had not the court been abolished by the General Assembly. He was always firm but affable and pleasant, wholly free from any sort of bias and always courteous to the bar. By these characteristics he won the esteem and good will not only of the bar but the officers of the court all over the District. No Judge has ever been more popular than he. He would seem, as a Judge, to elevate himself at the expense of other people. He never thought himself too great to learn something from lawyers and always "avoided appearing wiser than counsel." His ability, like his integrity, was beyond question. He had a way of going right into the center of things, and his clear and concise way of expressing his judicial opinion would give you a clearer idea of the law than you could learn in an hour's talk from most Judges. As soon as a case was stated to him he at once caught the points. With that modesty and diffidence which ever characterized him he always listened patiently to argument and when he began to render his opinion the force of his logic seemed irresistible. One thing which added to his great popularity was his kindness to young lawyers; and there was not one who practiced under him but who regarded him with admiration and possibly with affection. Judge Bennett is a man of remarkable mental power and legal learning, and if elected to the Appellate Bench he will give to it a strength and character which it has not possessed since the days of Hise and Robertson. It should be remembered that a Judge on the Court of Appeals Bench writes law to be read for centuries to come; the Judge should be selected because of his ability, his learning, his stern integrity. Such qualifications are all found in the person of Judge Bennett. Henderson Journal.

Senatorial Convention Called.
At a meeting of the Democratic Executive Committee of this District held on Monday, June 24, 1885, the following resolutions were adopted viz:
Resolved That a convention of the Democrats of the said district be held at Beaver Dam, Ohio county, Ky., on Monday, June 24, 1885, for the purpose of nominating a candidate to represent this district in the State Senate for the next term.
Resolved, That the Democratic Executive Committee of the several counties of the district are requested to call mass conventions of the Democrats of their several counties to be held on Monday June 25, 1885 to select delegates to attend said district convention.
Attest: THOS. J. SMITH, Chairman Ex-committee.

Republican Convention.
On Monday, June 1st 1885, at 1 o'clock, P. M., the Republicans of Ohio county convened at the Bank in Hartford, Ky., for the purpose of nominating a candidate to represent Ohio county in the next General Assembly of Kentucky.
The convention was called to order by Mr. Wm. Milligan, in a brief and pointed speech; after which Col. Q. C. Shanks was chosen chairman, and D. M. Hocker, secretary. Upon taking the chair, the Colonel entertained the convention for 30 minutes in giving a review of the Republican party.
The convention then proceeded to make nominations as follows: R. R. Wedding, of Roscoe, in a few fifty cents remarks, put in nomination Dr. J. W. Meador, of Pottsville; E. D. Guffy, of Hartford, nominated Herschel B. Taylor, and R. P. Rowe nominated Wm. Milligan. Short and sensible addresses were made by several parties, among whom were R. P. Rowe and E. D. Guffy. The chairman then proceeded to take the vote, which resulted as follows: For J. W. Meador, 25 votes; H. B. Taylor, 25; Wm. Milligan, 11. On motion the blindfold man was dropped, and a second vote was taken, with the following result: Mr. Taylor, 34; J. W. Meador, 29. Upon motion, Mr. Taylor was unanimously nominated.

Upon receiving his nomination, Mr. Taylor made a very sensible speech, showing his fitness and ability for the office of Representative. Dr. Meador and Mr. Milligan both made very impressive speeches, congratulating H. B. Taylor on his success.
A motion was made to publish the proceedings of the convention in the Hartford Herald, and the convention adjourned.
C. C. SHANKS, Chairman.
D. M. HOCKER, Sec'y.

Kentucky Patents.
The following patents were granted for the week ending May 26th, 1885, reported expressly for this paper by Jos. H. Hunter, Solicitor of American and Foreign Patents, 936 F Street, Washington, D. C.:
Chas. B. Webb, Hopkinsville, metal breeding eye; J. W. Pink, Louisville, riding saddle; J. W. Martin, Winchester, Ky., A. Fisher, Covington, saw set; G. E. Medley and M. W. William, Hopkinsville, lathe.

The case of Chas. Wing for the murder of Cruger, the Princeton town marshal, was called last week, but Wing was so drunk he was unfit to be seen in the courthouse, and Judge Grace after making some preparation for the trial to begin on Tuesday morning, ordered the Sheriff to take him to jail. Wing is a desperate character and if ever one deserved hanging he does. He shot down an innocent and lawless officer in cold blood, and has never ceased to gloat over the human deed. A late dispatch from Princeton says a jury has been empaneled in his case, and the evidence has all been given in and his trial will doubtless be carried through. One of Wing's main witnesses has gone back on him and his case is regarded as almost hopeless.

The Glasgow Times says so far as we know, there has never, for the season, been such an epidemic of mad-dog rumors. In one or two localities, schools have been closed through fear of the raging canines, and consternation is widespread. As a wise measure of prevention, every stray dog should be shot, and to strike right at the root of the evil, about half of those not strays might also with advantage be interviewed with shot guns. If no other cure is attained, the life of many an humble, lowly sheep, will be indefinitely lengthened.

STATE NEWS.

The residence of Gen. Frank Wolford burned Tuesday at Columbia.

A telephone line from Princeton to Evansville has been completed.

A disastrous fire took place at Harrodsburg, Ky., on Tuesday night of last week.

Blair's Hotel, at Sacramento, burned on Tuesday night of last week. Covered by insurance.

Wm. Greenwell was run over and killed by a train of cars in Nelson county one night last week.

Mrs. Haldeman, wife of John A. Haldeman, of the Courier Journal, died Monday morning of last week at Louisville.

An attempt was made Monday of last week to assassinate Jas. B. Sears, editor of the Jessamine Journal, at Nicholasville.

Suit is to be brought against Robert J. Breckinridge for the recovery of his alleged shortage as treasurer of the Knights of Honor.

A lump of coal from Cloverport, Ky., known as Breckinridge canal coal, weighing 2,500 pounds was shipped to London, England, recently.

Two juries have failed to find Lon Howard, the murderer of Col. Smith, insane. It is supposed the next trial before which he figures will be the grand jury of Davies county.

Jack Swoope, who was hit in the head with a hatchet at Cordsville by Bob Leason, recently, an account of which appeared in the HERALD at the time, is reported as being barely alive.

Rev. James E. Stone, of Haverhill, died on the 21st ult. He was Clerk of the Circuit and County Court of that county for over 35 years. He was the father of Mrs. Dr. Taylor, of Owensboro.

Habery's tobacco factory at Bremen, was burned last Wednesday morning. The house contained about 40,000 pounds of tobacco. No insurance. The fire is supposed to be the work of an incendiary.

James Dearman, a young man about 15 years old, while working on a raft saw logs in, in Mud river, one day last week, fell into the river and being unable to swim was drowned before he could be gotten out.

Sheriff Duncan, of Hardin county, took the following prisoners to the penitentiary Tuesday: H. N. Hollisworth, forgery, 7 years; David Thurman, grand larceny, 1 year; Isham Standford, grand larceny, 1 year; Wm. Crody, housebreaking, 3 years.

W. S. Hilbert, alias W. G. Howard, who stole two horses, a wagon and other property belonging to Mr. Wm. Gregory, of Davies county, was captured at Russellville on Monday of last week and brought back to Owensboro and lodged in jail. Howard is formerly from Logan county.

Harry Holdsworth has been sent to the penitentiary for seven years from Elizabethtown for forgery. Holdsworth was of the firm of Hotopp & Holdsworth, bankers, and forged checks on his partner to the extent of several thousand dollars. He ran away and was captured in New Orleans.

The Echo says, during the past week more tobacco has been brought to town than we ever remember to have noticed in the same length of time. Not less than one-fourth of a million pounds have been delivered since last Saturday. On Saturday it is estimated that 150 wagons were unloaded at the different factories.

Col. Wm. H. Rowan, County Clerk of Nelson, had a narrow escape from death last Sunday morning. He was handling a shot gun when the charge exploded. The shot struck him just behind the ear and tore the skin off several inches of the scalp. The wound is severe. A deflection of the muzzle of the gun one half inch would have caused his death. Record.

The Russellville Herald Enterprise says: "Alex Grinter, for log-stealing; Ed Bunch, for shooting and wounding; Ellen Galloway for cutting and wounding; Joe Benchamp, for perjury; Jerry Evans, for forgery; Jim Tully for the same offense, and George Benchamp as a nuisance, all colored, and all indicted at the last term of the Circuit Court, have been caught and jailed in the last week."

Jordan Taylor, who is to be hanged June 26th, in Hopkinsville, Ky., has professed religion and expressed a desire to be immersed in the river, but this proceeding cannot be allowed, a baptism will be arranged in the jail if he insists upon being immersed. Jordan has recently been shaved and his health has been considerably improved and he is now fat and healthy. He has taken up an idea that by some means he will escape the gallows.

A steam mill, near Richlen blew up on last Monday, killing instantly, three men and a boy and injuring others. The engineer, we understand, was badly but probably not fatally scalded. The accident seemed to have been caused by a boy tinkering with a tap or bolt after he had been warned of the danger. One Mr. Bowman was torn into small pieces. The sawyer was thrown against the saw and torn in two. One of the men killed was a black man. Green River Republican.

Lynchmore is very much excited over a scandal that has recently come to light at that place. Cooper Crab, a young man who had been engaged as agent there for some time, and a young lady of that place, whose name the papers have withheld, are accused of being too intimate. It is due to Mr. Crab to say that he acted the gentleman in the matter, and went at once and offered to marry the girl, which her parents refused to allow him to do, and the general verdict is that they are more to blame than either the lady or girl, for they refused to listen to rumor, or in any way to restrict their liberties. The girl has been the organist in the church, and she persists in saying that she will continue to act in that capacity. This the young lady of the town say will cause them to quit the Sunday-school. The mother of the girl says if they do she will tell things worse on many of them, and so it is—a bad state of affairs at best. B-H.

Farm and Live Stock Notes.
Give live stock soil weekly. Avoid last year's mistakes. Saw oats and barley early, or not at all. Millet is excellent food for young chicks. No gain ever comes from working the soil when wet. In stock breeding blood from the sire, beauty from the dam, should be the rule. The larger the roller, the more level will be the ground after passing over it. Beekeepers will find profit in the red raspberry, both as a honey and fruit-bearing plant. Sow sugar beets and other root crops in a rich spot if you have one; if not, sow in the best you have, and make it up as far as possible by labor in working the soil.

Domestic Crops.—This is one of the paying secrets of the market gardener's business that farmers should avail them of every day. To raise two crops in one season the soil must be rich and otherwise in good order. First there may come early peas, potatoes, cabbage, or any soiling crop, to be followed by turnips, pickles, rutabagas, cabbage, etc.

Galls on Workhorses.—These are liable to appear on horses newly put to work, or those breaking in a new harness, or saddle. A few days rest until the abrased parts heal and harden, should be allowed if possible. Nothing will cause a fresh and bleeding gall to dry up and cleanse so soon as a little table salt sprinkled on it. To prevent white hair, a mixture of burned leather, hard and gunpowder is valuable.

Shade in the Pastures.—The eagerness with which shade is sought by sheep and cattle in hot weather leads to the planting of some trees in each pasture. Where there is no shade at present, rapid growers like the silver maple, or any of the broad-leaved poplars, would be best. In moist soils the elm is almost unequalled as a quick growing shade tree.

Self-Milking Cows.—The old device of a neck rack which prevents the turning of the head to the side, is perhaps the best preventive known. This consists of two square frames placed around the neck and connected with each other at the four corners by light sticks, which keep them about a foot apart. The cow's appearance is not improved by such a fixture, but the habit may be broken in time.

Food for Young Turkeys.—Not so many young turkeys would die, if greater attention was devoted to their food. For the first week equal quantities of hard boiled egg, chopped fine, and good wheat bread will suit them. This may be followed by corn made from sour milk, and bread made of coarse flour and wheat shorts. If continued, some chopped roots or dandelions as well as some clean sharp sand may be furnished. Beyond six weeks old, screenings or small wheat may constitute a large part of their food. Young turkeys need frequent feeding and pure water.

Warfare Against Insects.—In the orchard no quarters must be given to the enemy. The tent-caterpillar's presence is easily detected, as the dew on the nests in the morning shows them up conspicuously. Every sign of their existence should be destroyed, as can easily be done when they are small. Borer in the trunks near the ground must be probed or cut out. The curculio will begin its work at once, and must be met by shaking the trees and catching the insects on a cloth and killing them.

The Atlanta Constitution.
In a long article relating to the B. B. B., of that city, says:
The Blood Balm Company started one year ago with $162.00, but to-day the business cannot be bought for $50,000.00.

The demand and the satisfaction given is said to be without a parallel, as its action is pronounced wonderful. We are glad to announce that our druggists have already secured a supply, and we hope our readers will supply themselves at once.

It is said to be the only speedy and permanent blood poison remedy offered, giving entire satisfaction in all cases before one bottle has been used. For Blood Diseases, Kidney Troubles, Scrofula, Catarrh, old Ulcers and Skin Diseases, try one bottle of B. B. B.

Consumption Cured.
An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of consumption, bronchitis, catarrh, asthma and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility and all nervous complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail, with address with stamp, naming this paper, W. A. NOYES, 119 Powers Block, Rochester, N. Y.

Dr. Carson's Nerve Tonic FOR MEN.
This medicine has been used by me in my practice for many years, for the treatment of Nervous Prostration, Absent Mindedness, Mental Derangement, Impotency and all affections of the Kidneys and Genital Organs, with the most gratifying results. I have never lost a patient who used it, but it has saved the lives and restored the health of thousands, who, had it not been for its timely help, would have ended their days in insane asylums or have sunk into premature graves. I am now giving up the active practice of medicine, and desire to place this TONIC where it will do the most good. I have heard but it put up in pill form, so as to need it through the mail in plain wrappers, free from observation, in all parts of the world. Hundreds of testimonials of its efficacy are on file, which have been printed in "The Herald" and "The Times" and are now being reprinted by the use of the NERVE TONIC. A large and varied experience satisfies me that no medicine known to the profession will restore lost vitality more rapidly and permanently than this. Every form of nervous sickness, especially that of the generative organs, such as spermatorrhea, Prostatitis, Impotency, etc., is completely cured by it, and such a single laxative, below is an endorsement of it by the distinguished editor of Health and Home, Dr. Hale, who knows of its virtues by having used it so successfully in his own large and lucrative practice.

I have heard but it put up in pill form, so as to need it through the mail in plain wrappers, free from observation, in all parts of the world. Hundreds of testimonials of its efficacy are on file, which have been printed in "The Herald" and "The Times" and are now being reprinted by the use of the NERVE TONIC. A large and varied experience satisfies me that no medicine known to the profession will restore lost vitality more rapidly and permanently than this. Every form of nervous sickness, especially that of the generative organs, such as spermatorrhea, Prostatitis, Impotency, etc., is completely cured by it, and such a single laxative, below is an endorsement of it by the distinguished editor of Health and Home, Dr. Hale, who knows of its virtues by having used it so successfully in his own large and lucrative practice.

The other negro came up as a stranger and won Uncle Jeff's $5, whereat he squealed and set the grand jury and the officers of the law after them.

Mr. E. H. Burton, a former citizen of this county, writes us that he is living near Avilla, Comanche county, Kansas, in a good house, and is very well pleased with the country around him; he thinks it equals any in fertility and that he has so far seen. The production of corn in ordinary seasons is from 30 to 40 bushels per acre, of wheat from 20 to 30 bushels, and of oats from 50 to 110 bushels. There is a peculiar kind of rough land there; it contains a mineral substance which in winter is brought to the surface by freezing and thus adds to the strength of the soil. He has always liked the HERALD, and now that he is far away from his old home he likes it a great deal more.

Dedication of the Baptist Church in Hartford.

Rev. J. B. Moody delivered the dedicatory sermon to the vast multitude that thronged the court hall to hear this eloquent divine. Although it had rained almost incessantly for days, when the dedication morn dawned upon us, the clouds rolled back and the sun shone forth its approving smile. The day was beautiful and bright, and the joyous birds seemed to sing a happier song on this occasion.

Rev. Mr. Moody is a true speaker, a clear, earnest and impressive reasoner, and his choice language contained all the keenness of the invisible lance, and was brought to bear with the consummate skill of a masterhand, insomuch that the finest texture of its message to the disowned heart. He admonished us as a little flock to cultivate these Christian virtues towards each other that so much beauty and adorn our lives. There is nothing so transcendently beautiful as these graces of God, fashioned and hung in eternal crystals. Love and charity in the heart sheds an influence that far exceeds the fragrance of a summer garden.

When this, Ohio county, was formed it embraced Davies, parts of Meigs, Butler, Breckinridge and Hancock, and was inhabited save by a few whites, who lived inside the fort at this place, the forests surrounding being the abode of roving tribes of Indians, which made frequent attacks upon them; and near the spot where the new edifice now stands was the first church organization formed in this entire county, something near a hundred years ago, surrounded by those circumstances that tried the hearts of men, and composed of only three gentlemen and two ladies of the Baptist faith. The new church, after having three hundred dollars donated them by the Home Mission Board of this Association, still lacked some three hundred to liquidate its entire indebtedness. Dr. Coleman, in a very modest and pleasant manner, appeared to the audience, and they finding it much more delightful to give than to receive, in a few minutes raised four hundred, even more than sufficient to cover the contingent expenses. After the benediction they adjourned to the cool, shady yard that surrounds our capital, where an abundant and sumptuous dinner was served by the good citizens, and after all had feasted there was much to spare.

After an hour or so spent in kindly greetings and hand-clasps, the bell in the tower at the new edifice chimed the hour to consecrate in prayer to God, the shrine where we worship, the temple in which we rejoice and the sheet anchor of our every hope and thought.

The dedicatory prayer was offered by Rev. J. S. Coleman, and was it a wonder that stillness and solemnity prevailed, if the guardian angels who spread their protecting wings lovingly over us, shedding their divine influence, were our sainted grandmothers and grandfathers who kindled the first spark of christianity near that altar?

An Ancient Relic.

Mr. Wm. B. DeHaven, of Horton, informed us last week that his brother, James DeHaven, of Rockvale, Breckinridge county, had in his possession a skillet, which is a novel as an old-time relic. The vessel is oval in shape and has a hange or rim around the top. It has been transmitted down to the third or fourth generation, and is supposed to be about one hundred and fifty years old. It is still in a good state of preservation.

Hartford History.

While in conversation very recently with one of the old citizens of this county we learned that Hartford, our neighboring county town, was first settled in the year 1777. The information was based on the statement of Uncle John Moseley, one of the old veterans of this county, who was born in Culpeper county, Va., June 2, 1777, during which year his father came to this State, and was one of the first to cast anchor at the little fort a few hundred yards above where Hartford now stands. This makes Hartford 108 years old. We are also told that the usual weight of this man Moseley was 350 pounds. He died February 21st, 1844. He was married to Jane B. Falton. To this couple were born twenty-two natural children; thirteen lived to maturity, twelve of them, eight sons and four daughters, lived to be married.—Outlook Courier.

Drowned.—William, son of Henry Kincaide, living on Bull Run creek, was drowned last Sunday morning. He and some other boys were riding on some plank in the backwater, when he fell off and drowned before assistance could be rendered.

The Baptists in the United States.

There are 2,507,703 regular Baptist communicants in the United States, not including the Free Will Baptists, Anti-Mission Baptists, or any of the minor sects. They report 125,740 baptisms last year, and since they do not practice infant baptism, each baptism represents a convert. They contributed during the year more than $7,000,000 for religious objects. They have 111 institutions of learning, whose property and endowments foot up $16,000,000. They publish 82 denominational periodicals. Their wealthiest institution is Brown University, Providence, R. I., whose endowments and property run up to $1,577,028. Next to Brown, the wealthiest institution in this country is Vassar College, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., with property and endowments amounting to $1,733,398. Vassar, as our readers know, is a school for girls. Baptists are more numerous in Georgia than in any other State, numbering there 256,991. In Kentucky there are 172,338 regular Baptist communicants, and their contributions last year to religious objects amounted to $288,688, an average of $1.64 per member.—Courier Journal

Still the convicts haven't come. One occupied at Aldridge last week, and has not been recaptured. He prized the window bars apart and let himself down by means of a blanket. It is reported currently that convicts will be worked in the Echols mines. The Central City Argus says 88 convicts will be quartered in a 12000 house at Aldridge. Now give the devil his due; the fact is, the house is not only much larger, but has four floors.
